

I would appreciate not being interepted at home with sales pitches of new credit cards and lowering interest rates. It is bad enough that it is mailed on a daily bases to me. With checks and cards that all it takes is a phone call to get started. We the consumer need oraganizations to prevent the theft of ID's